

SUMMER YOUTH INTERNS WANTED!

Are you aged 16-21 and living in the borough of Newham?

Interested in media or urban planning/regeneration?

Keen to learn new skills while earning some money this summer?

Want to make sure young people in Newham have a voice in the future of the borough?

We are looking for two bright young local people to work with us as interns to help the local community develop a vision and principles for Beckton Riverside, a significant new riverside neighbourhood and town centre for Newham that will be co-created with the residents of Newham.

You'll be working in the Shoreditch office of urban design and community engagement consultants Soundings and going out in the borough with the team to hear local people's views and vision for the new neighbourhood.

- Position 1: someone who enjoys photography or media who could help produce graphic materials and/or social media as well as documenting events
- Position 2: someone with an interest in architecture/planning/urban design/built environment to help us plan and carry out consultation events in the borough

Both positions would require a minimum of five days work each, spread over a period of two-three weeks commencing mid-late August.

No prior professional experience is necessary.

What you'll get out of it:

- London Living Wage
- Communications and engagement skills
- Insight into the planning and regeneration process
- References for your CV
- A chance to ensure young people in Newham have a say in the creation of an exciting new town centre

Interested?

Send us your CV or examples of your work and short covering letter (no more than 300 words) telling us why you'd like to be our summer intern.

Applications close 5pm, Thursday 4 August.
